Corporate Partners

“ We are proud supporters of Vote Solar – their team is doing critical work driving the policy landscape we need to expand the markets for solar and energy storage. This partnership is the best investment we could make in advancing clean energy.”

Jon Powers
CleanCapital

“ Simply stated – our expanding industry needs an effective advocacy arm like Vote Solar representing the local and regional interests of the people! Solar energy and energy storage are now among the most cost-effective, reliable and rapidly deployable energy resources in the US. In today’s ever changing political landscape, these messages often get misrepresented, lost or watered down at the state and local level. Our industry’s success hinges on effective partners and advocates like Vote Solar to deliver this message while enacting lasting clean energy policies across the country.”
